

What's your number?

Numbers rule our lives

Here's an interesting one for you:

That's how many business owners and directors over-estimate the number they actually need for a comfortable retirement. Resulting in them hanging on far too long before they exit their business.

You plan your business finances, so plan your retirement too

You take your business planning seriously, so take the same approach with your retirement planning.

Although, that's often easier said than done. With one question proving far more difficult to answer than you would have thought...

“What's the number needed to comfortably retire, without any financial worries?”

It's a hard question to answer, as it's unique for each of us. However, after sitting down and going through things with an independent expert, you'll find that the number is usually significantly lower than you may think.

So here's another number for you:

If you're coming up to retirement in the next 10 years, then now is the time to act. Have a read of our case studies and you'll see what a huge difference knowing your individual number will have.

Sitting down now with Blackstone and getting truly independent and expert retirement advice can bring your dreams into reality faster than you may have thought.
